Good Day

Goscor Lift Truck Company is one of the leading lifting equipment companies in South Africa with our head office based in Johannesburg, South Africa. Through OHSAS 18001, a technical guideline to conformity with standards, corresponding laws with the various requirements, ISO certification was necessary to transform our operations and guarantee a safety-first corporate culture to achieve constant peak performance and continual improvement.

Goscor demonstrated to an independent accreditation body that they carry out their activities with technical competence, in compliance with statutory and standards-based requirements and at an internationally comparative standard. The accreditation body assesses and monitors the management system and the competence of the conformity assessment body's assigned personnel.

This letter serves to confirm that Christopher John Keyter was part of the consulting team that guided and assisted Goscor Lift Truck Company with the implementation of the OHSAS18001 DAKKS international certification. Accreditation was achieved through an International Accreditation Authority. A full audit was conducted at all four Goscor Lift Truck Company branches based in Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban and East London.

The consultant (Christopher John Keyter) was very responsive and helpful. His ability to communicate on senior and junior level was very important during the roll out process. He is very knowledgeable on all safety matters. All business divisions and the entire supply chain within Goscor Lift Truck Company were included for OHSAS 18001 certification. We thank Christopher Keyter who was part of our journey for continuous improvement and achieving a safety-first corporate culture.

Kind Regards
